LutinX certifies the winner of the "Smart Village" challenge

The most important digital week in Italy, the Digital Week of Milan, 350 hybrid and free events that will unfold throughout Milan, it will have among its protagonists even LutinX, which will certify with its unique badges released with blockchain technology the winners of the event Smart Village, to be held at Space 78, Viale Sarca 78, the 11th and 12th of November.

The race!: 4 groups of 5 girls and boys will have to idealize a project that aims to digitally enhance Small Italian towns.

When!: from the morning of the 11th to the afternoon of the 12th of November. The project drafted by the 4 groups will be judged Saturday, November 12 by an internal jury, which referring to the line of the project idea "Smart Village", will decide the winner.

The winning project of the Work Experience, the one considered more inherent to the theme and most engaging in the cause of the digitization of the Italian villages, will receive a certificate in blockchain with LutinX and the 5 members of the winning team, in addition to the LutinX badges, will receive a scholarship at the Paideia Campus in Pollica.

The projects will be illustrated in the final award phase, which becomes a moment of sharing ideas, stimulus, and input for the birth of new possible collaborations with the Italian municipalities involved and with the ANCI (National Association of Italian Municipalities). An event, this of the Milano Digital Week, international, very sensitive and in line with the issues addressed in the project drafts presented.

"The Smart Cities event underlines the real need for technology in our daily lives. Blockchain can be used for an incredible number of opportunities." Alessandro Civati, Founder and CEO of LutinX, emphasizes that we need to talk more often and to a wider audience of technology and blockchain, to remove from these terms the often negative meanings and make everyone understand that the future is already part of the present.

Parallel to the hackathon will be held a series of round tables and conferences that will also see the participation of Alessandro Civati, CEO of LutinX, which will address blockchain issues on Saturday morning, November 12.

The event is born thanks to a collaboration between LutinX, Dot Academy and Spazio 78 and to participate at the round tables or attend the award ceremony, free of charge, you must register here: https://lnkd.in/d_JRxCRj
